DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 8-16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 8-14 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mankovitz in view of Levac.

As to claims 10-11 and 16, Mankovitz discloses a terminal device for a reception of data from an infrastructure, the terminal device having specific data processing capabilities for processing the data (see col. 7, lines 35-46), the infrastructure making a data service available in a format, the infrastructure including interfaces via which the data in the format is adapted to the data processing capabilities of the terminal device (see col. 11, lines 1-12; col. 9, lines 36-46), the terminal device comprising: means for transmitting a request signal to the infrastructure via which data is requested from the infrastructure and with which information concerning the data processing capabilities is transmitted via the terminal device to the infrastructure (see col. 8, lines 25-31).

Mankovitz do not specifically discloses adapting data to users that have different data processing capabilities. Levac discloses adapting data to users that have different data processing capabilities (see col. 1, line 61 - col. 2, line 2). Since, it would be desirable to reach as many users as possible. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to add the Levac teaching to the Mankovitz terminal for the simple reason of compability.

As to claim 13, Mankovitz discloses the terminal device, wherein the terminal device is a car radio with supplementary functions (see col. 45, lines 3-10).

As to claim 14, Mankovitz discloses the terminal device, wherein the information concerning the data processing capabilities of the terminal device includes a terminal device identifier (see col. 3, lines 4-30).

As to claim 12, Mankovitz discloses the terminal device, further comprising means for exchanging data with the infrastructure via a telephone network (see col. 9, lines 57-61). Mankovitz do not specifically disclose that the telephone network is a digital mobile network. However, since both telephone network are used primary for the same reason and applications, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to adapt the application in one system to the other for the simple reason of having enhanced mobility and portability.

Regarding claims 8-9, they are the corresponding method claims of apparatus claims 11-12. Therefore, claims 8-9 are rejected for the same reason shown above.

6. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mankovitz in view of Levac as applied to claims 8-14 and 16 above, and further in view of Dowling.

As to claim 15, Mankovitz and Levac disclose everything claimed as explained above except for wherein the data includes geographic information. Dowling discloses making geographic data information available (see par. 0016). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine these teachings in order to receive localized information.
